

Certificate in Art History and Visual Culture

This certificate is open to currently registered Dalhousie and King's students in all Faculties; it will not be open for direct application.

Contact/Coordinator: Dr. Mona Holmlund, Department of History

A Certificate in Art History and Visual Culture would be most obviously beneficial to students considering graduate studies in Art History, Museum Studies, Museum Education, Arts Administration, Conservation, Cultural Studies, etc. However, the importance of developing visual literacy is being recognized much more broadly in today's digital, image-based world (for example, courses in art history are now required at several top medical schools). Indeed, in many fields visual thinking is considered as crucial as verbal thinking. A Certificate in Art History and Visual Culture would therefore provide a sound complement to any area of studies in the humanities, sciences, or social sciences.

This certificate is a 12 credit hour certificate with one required 3 credit hour course (HIST 2900.03/GWST 2900.03). The remainder of the courses will be selected from a list of 3 credit hour electives. Students have the option to take one of their 3 credit hour electives at NSCAD University.

Learning Outcomes:

- Students will cultivate visual literacy—the ability to interpret works of art both as formal structures and in relation to social, political, and cultural contexts—and develop a working knowledge of the vocabulary of art history and criticism.
- Students will learn to effectively use objects as primary sources and to articulate the relevance of art as both evidence of, and stimulus for, historical, social, political, and intellectual movements.
- Students will develop the ability to communicate their knowledge of visual culture both orally and in writing by learning how to synthesize a wide range of primary and secondary sources.

Students will be able to count credit earned in these courses toward their undergraduate major, minor, or distribution requirements, unless otherwise specified in their program's regulations.
